Compulsory REVISION comments	In this paper the author discussed several classes of analytic function and determined the upper bounds of the absolute values of the Taylor coefficients for functions in these classes. The proofs of the theorems and corollaries in this article are correct. The results obtained by the author are the generalization of some results got by other authors. Although there are two minor errors in the article, I think the paper can be published. The errors are pointed out in the pdf file of the paper.	We have corrected them. Thank you.
