

Reviewer's Comments:

There are a lot of grametical english mistakes.

The target density of the panels was not indicated.

Why did have the panels different densities, if they were produced at same target density.

Author's Feedback:

Thanks for review and valuable suggestions.

We have corrected the grammatical mistakes accordingly.

We used two types of raw materials having different densities with different ratios. So, it becomes complicated to assumea target density. Thus, we did not select any target density.

The density of the panels may differ as there was no target density of the panels and all the panels were fabricated with different raw materials and different ratios by using the same processing parameters.