

Editor's Comment:

Although the reviewers have recommended your article, one of them has expressed reservations about quality of English used. After reviewing the article myself, I am convinced with the reviewer's observation. Actually, I will rate the use of English as seriously lacking. Based on the technical merits of the paper and the substantial effort spent on both sides, I will give you one last opportunity to improve the quality of English. If I do not find substantial improvement in the quality of English used, I will be constrained to reject the paper. I hope you will use the opportunity to take the services of a native English speaker to bring the quality of English used to acceptable level.

I look forward to receiving your improved submission.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Akash Dixit
Department of Mechanical Engineering, Oakland University, USA