FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
I have taken the liberty of making changes throughout the text with the intent of clarifying the English. The author must check that I have not overstepped my authority in this respect and may wish to re-introduce deleted points on a final draft. I appreciate the author's philosophy that English is nowadays more an international language, true constructivism, however the finesse of philosophical thought is nevertheless expressed through a more sophisticated use. An adjusted document is attached with which the author should update the document for publishing. As such the work qualifies for publication as an opinion article according to the prescribed criteria. Significant alteration of more than a few sentences from the recommended version should be resubmitted and checked for a final 'OK'.
