PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The author has made some attempts addressing the earlier comments made, but still require to do more. Author was asked to review relevant literature to guide the current study, which he/she claim the guide lines do not make provision for that – this I totally disagree. Can blend the literature in the introduction section. In the absence of relevant literature, it will be difficult to know what research gap the current study is filling. Doing a quantitative analysis is not sufficient to say the research is filling a research gap if we don't know the analysis done by other researchers. Author was also asked to report the marginal values of the logit regression, which has not been adhered to, as a result its becoming difficult to interpret by the author. E.g, see interpretation to the credit var, a unit increase in credit leads to what increase in participation? The marginal values will help in this direction. The inclusion of the migration variable still lacks clarity. How could migration affect women participation?	All the corrections suggested by the reviewer have been effected. They are shown in the revised manuscript.
