Subject: Re: Request for final decision for manuscript number 2014_AJEA_8999

In their revised manuscript the authors followed all of the comments raised by the reviewers and it is not a complete manuscript. However, there are still some errors. Especially I would like to point out the analysis of the data. I am not clear what the authors mean by 'R² %'? R² is the measure of coefficient of determination which only express how scattered the values are. In such case correlation coefficient is more appropriate. Conclusion is not written completely. I suggest adding the concise results in this section. The authors should be consistent about formatting references. The references do not follow a single style. Please check and revise accordingly. The manuscript also contains many typographical errors such as punctuation and symbolic errors. Please check them and revise.

After these minor revisions it may be considered as publication with the decision of chief editor.
