| We have just two comments to make: - The first time that the species was cited in the manuscript, describes the complete name (genus and species), later, you need to abbreviate the genus. In this sense, use "Clarias gariepinus" once, then just "C. gariepinus". This comment was made in the first evaluation and the same comment applies to "Artemia Salina". The review of the entire manuscript is necessary. - The author who identified the species was described in the Title, Abstract and the Introduction. Delete this information in the Conclusion section. |                                                 |
