

SDI FINAL EVALUATION FORM 1.1

PART 1:

|                          |                                                                      |
|--------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Journal Name:            | British Journal of Applied Science &amp; Technology  |
| Manuscript Number:       | 2013_BJAST_7621                                                      |
| Title of the Manuscript: | Traffic Kinematic Wave Caused By Road Hump: Perceptions and Analysis |

PART 2:

| FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Authors' response to final evaluator's comments                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Anyway, this is not a matter. What is remarkable is that the authors nor have addressed the comments of this referee, neither have discussed why this has not been done. Moreover, the authors should be more humble and should spent more time in a revision. A scientific paper needs a lot of care in being written. Further pursuing this aspect, it is not acceptable that a major revision is processed by the authors in more or less two days. Also, speaking again about grammar, the acknowledgments section contains errors, e.g. words written without being separated, "university" is written as "universiti", without saying that the section is written as there is only one author. My final comment is to reject the paper. | All issued raised by the referee have been addressed in the revised manuscript. Great care has been taken to revamp the manuscript and its hereby resubmitted with deep respect and appreciation of the reviewer's valuable time. Universiti Teknologi Malaysia is the correct name in Bahasa Melayu language; however it can be translated as University of Technology Malaysia |