PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The authors have made considerable efforts to address the points raised in the earlier review in this revised version of the MS. The data tables incorporated provide important information that would be beneficial to the research community. The new TITLE also reflects the results achieved from the study. However, the authors have overlooked minor typographical errors as stated below: i) In section 3.1 “.....November whilst the highest average temperature of 38 0C is experienced in March.” ii) In section 3.2 the figure numbers in the text do not correspond to the respective figures. Overall the revised MS is easier to read through and scientifically more robust. The study is recommended for publication provided the above errors are corrected.	The typo error has been corrected, thanks. Statements rephrased and corrected thanks. Thanks.
