| Compulsory REVISION comments | (1) In the introduction part, the author has considered face as a reflection of human mind but here author is supposed to classify the gender problem so this initial introduction part should be changed as it goes away.(2) What is at line 100? Which figure is this? | (1) We stressed on gender problem so we deleted the concept of reflection.(2) All Figures are marked with legend                                                          |
| Minor REVISION comments      | The author has proposed a good method but there may be some exceptional cases. Author can briefly discuss that also.                                                                                                                                                         | It is incorporated in the text                                                                                                                                                |
| Optional/General comments    | The sentences need to be revised once.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | The text are thoroughly modified.                                                                                                                                             |
