| Compulsory REVISION comments |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Minor REVISION comments      | The paper is interesting and experimental data seems to be favourable. There is need of a review in all the manuscript as some sentences are not clear enough or even written in an inappropriate manner. Ethical issues-: In general, sensory analysis involves ethics committee and in the present paper the authors did not mention anything about that concern. |                                                                                                                                                                               |
