

SDI FINAL EVALUATION FORM 1.1

PART 1:

Journal Name:	British Journal of Economics, Management & Trade
Manuscript Number:	2014_BJEMT_10735
Title of the Manuscript:	IMPACT OF TECHNICAL AND FUNDAMENTAL ANALYSIS IN THE GLOBAL FOREIGN EXCHANGE MARKET

PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
1) Major work on tenses, spelling and grammar have been ignored by the author 2) Consider changing the TITLE of your work to reflect what the study is all about – the study is more on importance NOT impact! 3) Is the study on the impact of FX OR importance of chartism and fundamentalism? 4) The observations, conclusion and recommendations do not reflect the title of this work 5) The Paper has a lot of typos, example, lines 92, 116, 142, 156, 193, etc 6) The previous comments from the evaluator were casually effected	1) Grammar and spelling already correct. 2) I disagree on your comment. What is Impact? The title reflects the research analysis, result and method. If you think it is not applicable try to suggest alternative word (IMPACT). 3) Impact of Technical and fundamental was discussed, see Method and Result section. The Testing was slated on meta trader using candle stick price pattern recognition and other defined parameter in indicator shown on all Figs. The content emphasized on technical and fundamental outlook using meta trader and suggested possible entry positions and exit position with define stop loss/take profit order was specified in the research. See method and result section for orderliness. 4) Error line 92, 116,142, 156, 193, etc have been effected.