PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
It is their view. However, the changes can be made. For example, to say "There is impact of the independent variable (Socialization) on the KM. - There is impact of the independent variable (Externalization) on the KM. - There is impact of the independent variable (Combination) on the KM. - There is impact of the independent variable (Internalization) on the KM. is monotonous. Instead it can be worded as: Socialization, externalization, combination and internalization significantly impact on KM respectively. Many such changes are possible.	Thank you for your comment I learned in my studies in Europe to be formulating sub- hypotheses like this way. I think the formulation of sub-hypotheses according to your opinion inappropriate. The word monotonous does not mean anything compared to the correct scientific methodology Anyhow : even do not take the comments action and reaction between you and me I respect your opinion so it was modified according to your say. I have no any new comments. I sent same previously answers. With Best Regards
