| Minor REVISION comments      | This is an interesting and well-written policy paper. It provides clear suggestions to promote the industrialization and economic development for Nigeria. It describes and emphasizes the importance of the comparative advantages inherently with different cultural groups. It recommends government should utilize the fiscal federalism to encourage various multicultural groups to enhance the drive to industrialization process. If the author can add some paragraphs about the role of DFI; how DFI interact with the comparative advantages of multicultural groups, this paper will be even better. |                                                                                                                                                                                      |
