PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
1) Please do proof read since there are some grammar mistakes trace in the section 2 and 5.	Thank you for the observation. We wish these mistakes were clearly marked out for us for quick attention and correction. However, having gone through the paper once again, the word "Bandwith" on page 16, line 330 (section 5) has been corrected to "Bandwidth". Apart from this, we could not spot out any other mistakes in the indicated sections. Most of the words highlighted in red are British spelling of the American lexicon. For example, Labor is American, while Labour is British. The same goes for favorable and favourable (as seen in line 105, section 2). Throughout the paper, the British spelling is used. Others like cointegration, or reparamatized are standard econometric terms even when they are highlighted in red. In case there are any further correction, the authors are willing to correct them.
