PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
While the changes were made the paper still needs basic punctuation corrections: For example: Its "year-to-year" and NOT "year to year" See line 311 for example. The paper is situated in the second component of the empowerment theory, that is the provision of financial resources to establish: There should be no comma after theory unless the author uses WHICH. Lines 132 NS 133 there should be commas after assistance and frameworks. The problem with this author is that when a problem cited in the paper the author only correct what was said instead of going through the whole manuscript: See lines 44 and 585. The acronym problem still exists. This paper has not been give to a professional editor. This is a good topic but the author needs to clean it up and make it presentable.	The required instructions have been followed. The manuscript was given to University of Ghana Writing Centre for proof reading and basic editing.
