After checking all reviews and author's revision, I propose to ask one more minor revision concerning the linguistic level of the paper. Look, e.g., only the first lines in the abstract

" In this paper, we discuss the statistical learning theory based on intuitionistic fuzzy random sample. First of all, we introduced the definition of intuitionistic fuzzy number intuitionistic fuzzy random variables. Secondly, we gives some properties"

which should be, for example,

" In this paper, we discuss the statistical learning theory based on intuitionistic fuzzy random sample. First of all, we introduce the definition of intuitionistic fuzzy number intuitionistic fuzzy random variables. Secondly, we give some properties"

after this formal revision I propose to accept the new revised version (scientifically it is OK).
