

Editorial comments:

I finished reviewing.

This case shows a successful case of replantation of knocked out teeth after traumatic avulsion. I found that the author made an effort to treat and to have follow-up efficiently. However, the following requests have to be satisfied to publish.

P2

Title: tooth→teeth

Abstracts: Abstract is divided into three sections; Background, report of cases, and conclusion. Abstract should not be divided.

Keywords: injuries,→injuries.

P3

Line 14: pH

Report of the cases: line 4; incisor→incisors, kept shrink→sunk ?

P4

Figure 3: line 2; prost?

P8

Line 11: andankylosis→and ankyloses

Line 17: bear utmost ?

Line 23: follwup→follow up

Replantation of knocked out tooth is not uncommon. Treatment process of this case is general and well known. If this paper is published, more peculiar process should be shown. The author should write what is peculiar and new. For example, this case was seemed difficult to cure by general treatment, but the method which the author used is different from general treatment, so author had good result, like this.

Author's feedback:

Thank you honorable editor for the time and correction, all the point the editor noticed is justified, accepted, corrected, and marked with yellow highlight.

However, regarding keywords all the four keywords has been selected from MeSH database, and used in the article as found in there.

Regarding the significant of this study another line at paragraph 8 (line 179 to 182) has been added.
