Subject: RE: Request for final decision for manuscript number 2012 BMRJ 2033

I am returning my recommendation about the sent article.

The blood stream infections in general and in pediatric patients in particular, which is the subject of this study, are very important to study. The significance of the work is due to the details provided about a large number of pediatric cases in different wards of the hospital.

I reviewed the older version of the manuscript by mistake and made the corrections in the attached file; I hope the authors can make the changes as edited.

I also looked at the newer manuscript and the authors changes made in response to the reviewer's comments.

My recommendation: The manuscript needs additional work to be publishable (minor editing). I would suggest that the authors consider the editing I made to improve the writing of this manuscript and accept it after that.
