PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
Not satisfied with editorial works see title where so many words were joined –same as text, table 2 ; lines 33-39: no references; References on lines numbered 417 and 420 have not been well written-hope authors understood reasons for using ‘a ‘and ‘ b’	Joined words seem to be peculiar to Windows 8 version being used in preparing this document which reverses all corrections made as soon as it is opened on another software version .This revised manuscript has therefore been saved in pdf format to prevent a reversal of corrections. Lines 33-39. Reference has been inserted. Author was cited in Fermented cereals-A global perspective, which is an FAO corporate document repository. The original author has been cited. Lines 417-420. Thank you! Authors do very well understand the use of “a” and “b” which in this case is actually not appropriate. We have made the corrections.
