PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
The authors failed to revise the ms according my suggestions. In particular, in all figures, bars (SD or SEM?) are the same! It means that all the results have the same error!	In all the figures, the bars represent the LSD (Fisher least significant difference) which is the same for the same experiment when we run one way ANOVA. We analyzed all this study in same way and we never used the standard deviation or standard error of the mean as a means of comparison.
