SDI Review Form 1.6

PART 1: Review Comments

	Reviewer's comment	Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, corrects the manuscript and highlights that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here)
Compulsory REVISION comments	ethical issues- Yes, they should indicate the number of approval	One of the policies of any journal as regards instructions to authors on the issue of ethics is to make a statement concerning ethical approval. It is not mandatory that the number should be indicated. There are situations where a research on completion is fragmented into many parts for the purposes of publication, and the approved number is just one. Are we going to be quoting the same number for all published work?.
Minor REVISION comments	There are few grammatical mistakes in manuscript. Gastrointestinal infections remain a public health problem worldwide. The number of samples is very small, but the statistical analysis supports it. In my opinion the authors should make a stronger argument about the demographics compared with other countries in the same continent.	The grammatical mistakes have been taken care of. Thanks for the statement. The authors have made a strong argument based on available literatures.
