Subject: RE: Request for final decision for manuscript number 2013_IRJPAC_8592

Unfortunately, authors refused to address critical query 3 on the stereochemistry. Previous author's comment had no relation to the query. I cannot accept their current argument that they are not interested in the stereochemistry. The geometry uncertainty of the indicated compounds results in different chemical constituents and in the absence of other supporting evidences these compounds cannot be claimed as identified.

The authors' response to query 7 "the journal abbreviations have been done to the best of our knowledge" indicates lack of this knowledge. Authors can refer to any major database (for example, Chemical Abstracts) to figure out the correct journal abbreviations.

Therefore, I recommend to REJECT this manuscript.
