

Reviewer's Comment:

I have reviewed the article listed here: "Potential of solid waste composting in the Gaza Strip-Palestine" and my comments are as the following:

1. The title of the article does not reflect the content- the body of the article highlights some of the issues related to the 'waste management' in Gaza Strip rather than specifically the composting processes.
2. No original data is presented and all is extracted from other sources.
3. The author fails to reference the data appropriately
4. Method of referencing is not consistent through out the article. The reference numbering is used throughout the texts however; occasionally the references are identified by the 'year' in the text.
5. Some of the data are not referenced and it is not clear if the authors own the data or is from other resources.
6. The author is not consistent with referencing the issues addressed and tries to claim the topics of other sources.
7. As indicated in my previous review comments the tables do not provide proper scientific units and/or no unit at all.

I believe with further revision this article could possibly as a 'review' article and not as an original work by the author.
