

This paper is technically correct, and it is suitable for publication after some modification:

1) Some English errors are found, please ask the author to pay special attention to English
English errors are corrected and highlighted

2) a correct citation is strongly needed

For example ,Line 49, Page 2, "

"According to the Exp-function method,...." Hereby the citation to the original publication on the exp-function method is strongly needed.

Citation is marked and highlighted

3) A brief introduction to the used method is needed.

Brief introduction is given and highlighted