Dear Ms P. Das,

In the link in your email I found my paper on NiO molecule published in J. Mod. Phys. The paper that I sent to your journal is on the molecule LaS. Of course there is no any kind of plagiarism because I am the author of the 2 papers. In my research work I study the spectroscopic and electronic structure of different molecules which are needed by the scientific and industrial communities. The investigated data are the potential energy curves, the spectroscopic constants, the dipole moment and the vibration rotation of the considered molecules. I have more than 40 papers on the study of different molecules. Kindly, find as attached file a list of these publications.

Sincerely,

M. korek
