Subject: Re: Request for final decision for manuscript number 2012 PRRI 2209

In revised form, authors take ALL comments into consideration and add them into manuscript. I think, now, the paper looks better and more logical than the original version. Therefore, my decision is to ACCEPT the revised version for publication in your Journal. According to the comments given, the authors have carefully revised the manuscript and the revised version is OK. I would like to recommend that the revised paper should be accepted by the journal.

It can be published as it is.
